Wednesday, March 9

NEW YORK

ENDS APRIL 17TH 2016

Glenn Ligon's explorations of blackness—from skin to outer space, the melancholy of everyday life, and the darker side of humor—culminate in Live, 2014, his soundless seven-channel video work based on the film Richard Pryor: Live on the Sunset Strip, from 1982. Ligon's examination of the legendary comedian's mythos is nearly surgical yet deeply felt, affectionate.
